

GUARD BAND IS BEING PROBED

Member Is Suspected of Retaining Instruments Furnished Him by State.

CAVALRY TROOP INSPECTED

ONLY SEVEN OF THE COMPANY ARE PRESENT.

The regimental band of the Utah National guard is under the investigation of the regimental officers and the county attorney because of the suspicion that instruments belonging to the state have been stolen by members of the band.

Colonel H. M. H. Lund yesterday called attention of the county attorney's office to the matter and an investigation will result. One of the band members suspected of the theft of the instruments entrusted to his care, left the band without returning the property. If after probing the case the county attorney finds that the evidence justifies the suspicion this man will probably be arrested for the theft of the instruments.

Two sergeants, two corporals, three privates and one or two men not in uniform were present at the official inspection of troop A of the National Guard. The strength of the company is said to be but fifty-four, but the colonel said that the inspection was called more for examining the equipment than for reviewing the men.

Among those present at the inspection were Colonel H. M. H. Lund, Governor J. C. Cutler and Colonel Kessell. Hanson and Brower of the governor's staff, Captain W. H. Shea, commanding officer of the troop, is employed nights at the inspection office and was excused from the inspection. There are at present no lieutenants in the troop and for that reason not a commissioned officer of the troop was present.

The inspection of the troop was called as a result of the condition in which the equipment of the battery was found. The "deplorable state of affairs in the battery caused the colonel to suspect that this state might exist in the other military organizations. Last night's inspection of the cavalry branch of the guard showed that their equipment was in much better shape than that of the battery. Some of the carbines and sabers were in poor condition, but the greater part of the outfit was in first-class shape.

After the governor and staff had gone Colonel Lund met with the members of the troop who were present and talked over conditions with them.

At the conclusion of the inspection Colonel Lund said:

"The equipment was in better shape than I had expected to find it and much better than that of the battery. Before I ordered the inspection of the First Battery I knew that it was not in the best of condition, but I did not think it was nearly as bad as it was. They have been given to understand that such a condition of affairs must not be allowed to exist and I think will again be in good shape."

As to the friction between the officers there are still some sore spots, but as soon as the boys learn that we all must give and take in this world I think matters can be adjusted satisfactorily.

"When I found the condition of the equipment of the battery I resolved to order an inspection of the other military companies. The mounted equipments of course are naturally in the worst shape because they are harder to keep in shape. I have not posted any other orders, but will soon order inspections of the infantry companies in the city and then carry the inspection to the companies in the country."

"I don't think I will find that any of the companies are in as bad a shape as that of the battery. Of course, such a condition could not be tolerated for a moment in a regular army, but it is impossible to maintain the same degree of discipline in National Guard circles as in a regular army post, and we will do our best to see that the equipments are properly cared for."

COUNTERFEIT "SAWBUCK."

Ten-Dollar "Buffalo" Note Which Is Very Well Executed.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The United States secret service announces the discovery of a new counterfeit $10 "Buffalo" note. This counterfeit is apparently a photo-lithographic reproduction printed on two pieces of paper with silk fiber distributed between them. The face of the note is grayish black. The numbering seal and large X are of good color and workmanship. The check letter and plate number do not appear in the lower right-hand corner. The back of the note is dark bluish green. By itself this counterfeit is apt to deceive, but when handled with genuine notes the marked difference in the color of the back should lead to its immediate detection.

CLERK SUFOCCATED.

New York, Nov. 14.—Frederick Rutter, a clerk, was suffocated and Andrew Erickson, also a clerk, was probably fatally injured in a fire in a three-story tenement house in Smith street, Brooklyn, early today.

LOUD COUNTRY AGAIN ENDED

Every River and Stream Out of Its Banks and Enormous Damage Inflicted.

LOSS OF LIFE REPORTED

SEATTLE ISOLATED BY RAGING WATERS.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 14.—The Oregonian has just received a telephone message from Seattle that that city is cut off from the surrounding country by the floods. The message, which is very brief, states that three lives have been lost and that the damage in the country will run into the hundreds of thousands.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 14.—With a flood area embracing approximately 300 square miles, northwestern Washington is now face to face with a state of affairs which, unless the waters subside soon, will prove far more disastrous than the floods four years ago. Fed by a constant succession of heavy rains and by melted snow from the slopes of the Cascades, almost every river and stream in the northwest has within a night and a day risen with that rapidity characteristic of the waters of this section of the country, overflowed their banks and are spreading across the valleys and low lands, bringing a monetary loss which will reach hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Several Lives Lost.

Scores of towns, including Seattle, have been for the last twenty-four hours, cut off from all outside communication. Bridges have been swept aside, railroad tracks washed out, telegraph and telephone wires torn down and as far as can be ascertained, at least half a dozen lives lost.

Darkness fell tonight on a scene unparalleled in the history of the state. Watchers from the highlands, looking across the rain-swept lands, saw nothing but an expanse of water, with here and there the tops of submerged houses. In some of the worst forms of water-borne persons could be seen signaling for help.

Mad Rush of Waters.

Some attempted rescues were made, but the mad rush of swollen waters, carrying trees, snags, lumber and even houses, forced the rescuers back again and again.

Early today the Northern Pacific bridge across Stuck river went out and soon after the suspension of railroad traffic between Tacoma and Seattle. Earlier in the day the Tacoma Railroad bridge was also washed out. It is impossible to maintain its service on the interruption line on account of its tracks being under water in many places. This completely ended the transportation facilities between Seattle and Tacoma.

The Northern Pacific railroad has given up attempting to run trains across those to Portland. It is able to maintain this short service, but for how long this will continue is not known. The two last messages from the southwest state that the waters have broken telegraph and telegraphic communication southwest of Olympia.

Numerous Washouts.

Advisers received at the office of the chief dispatcher of the Northern Pacific state that the water in Green canyon is two feet higher than during the floods of 1902. Innumerable washouts are reported from all parts of the country and as far as can be ascertained, at least four bridges have gone down—one at Buckley, one at Hot Springs, another at Lester and the fourth across the Stuck river near Auburn.

Despite all efforts to get into communication, what has occurred east of Auburn and west of the slopes of the Cascades can only be conjectured. That great damage has been done is plainly evident from the reports of John Lindbergh, a down lumber, pling, houses, livestock and household goods. All wires between Hot Springs and Auburn are down and what damage the flood has done in that section of the country will not be known for a couple of days.

Railroads Tied Up.

Every railroad in the northwest is tied up and though a few trains are being run, no attempt is being made at a schedule. The tracks of the Milwaukee, Northern Pacific and Great Northern have been washed away in places, but it is hoped to have the damage repaired in a few days.

One of the disasters, apart from the washouts, is the large number of bridges that have fallen across the tracks, preventing passage.

The Northern Pacific made an attempt to reach Summit Junction but failed. A third train was run from Seattle to Auburn this afternoon, but since then it is reported that 60 feet of track has been washed away.

At midnight rain is still falling heavily in this city.

SEARCH FOR NEGRO MURDERER.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 14.—With open talk of lynching, armed squads patrolling the city, officers and citizens rushed several times to near-by places on reports of the appearance of the desperadoes, the search for Will Harris, the negro who last night shot and killed two policemen and three negroes and wounded four, continued. At midnight tonight the negro was reported at large in the Baltimore estate, and officers and a large number of others hurried there to capture him. Reports received here early in the morning from Alexander that a negro filling the description of Harris had been captured led to the sending of a large posse to that place with the intention of bringing him back. Later it developed that he had only been seen in the vicinity.

TRIED TO BURN HIS HOME

Incendiaries Throw Bottle of Kerosene With Lighted Fuse Into House of T. Foster.

An investigation made of the origin of a small fire that occurred on Tuesday evening at the home of T. Foster, 2750 Pacific avenue, has resulted in disclosing the attempt of an incendiary to burn the house. A bottle containing a quart of kerosene wrapped in a newspaper, together with a lighted railroad fuse, was hurled through the window, but for some reason the fire did not start before it got a proper start. The family was away from home at the time.

Mr. Foster is connected with the night force of the local baggage department, and was at work when the attempt to burn his home was made. He returned about 8 o'clock yesterday morning and discovered the broken bottle of oil soaked kerosene and paper and the railroad fuse on the floor in his parlor. Inside the bottle had been placed a piece of iron, evidently to make sure it was burning when it came into contact with the floor.

From the fact that the fuse and piece of iron used in the bottle were from the railroad it is believed that Foster's enemy is a railroad man. About a year ago Foster and his brother were held up and badly beaten and it is believed that the same persons made the attempt to burn his house.

ELECTION IN OGDEN.

Smallest Vote Cast Last Week in Many Years.

The board of canvassers of the election returns have completed the canvass of the seventeen city districts and almost all of the county districts. The whole count will be finished today. The official canvass as it is called, so far has in no way changed the first announcement of the results. The total vote cast in the city was 4,632 out of a registration of little less than 7,000, or about two-thirds of the registered vote. This is said to be the smallest vote cast in the city for years outside of a school election.

The vote on the amendments show that the mortgage tax carried by a vote of 1,232 for and 794 against, while the proposed amendment affecting the city school was carried by a vote of 1,231 for and 794 against. The result of the city count shows that on the head of the ticket Howell gets 2,515 and Maloney 2,122. On the school ticket, Frick for supreme judge, received 1,574, or 46 more than Howell; Whitecott 1,572, Maloney 2,122. On the city ticket, the state senate received 2,515, William 1,458 and Kinsey 482. On the labor ticket, Piggott led with 223 votes, but the average party vote was about 195. The Socialist vote is a little over 300 on the average. Andrew Kinn, candidate for treasurer on the combined Democratic, Socialist and Labor tickets, received 1,689 votes.

Charged With Burglary.

George, better known as "Kid" Malar, was arrested by the police here yesterday and locked up at the police station, charged with being an accessory to a burglary committed some time the morning before. The principal in the crime is said to be Bernard Frank of the Uintah Canyon company's office at Riverdale. Frank has made his getaway. It is claimed that the latter broke into the office of the Canyon company and stole some of the stubs out of the time check book. He then filled out the check in his own name for $50 and cashed it in a local saloon. He got $40 cash and a due bill for $25, the bill he gave to Malar and when the latter called for the $25 he was arrested. It has been discovered in the meantime that the affair was crooked.

Runaway Boys Caught.

Two of the three boys who escaped from the state Industrial School here some time ago were captured at Reno and Carlin and brought back to the institution yesterday. Fred Kenney and Harry Cook were caught at Reno and while on the way back with the two boys Assistant Sheriff E. Kneass recognized Perry Bacon, another escapee, at Carlin. The boy boarded the train at the point and virtually ran into the officer.

Contract Is Signed.

The negotiations which have been under way for some time between John C. Parsons, president of the Northwest association and Miss Nannie Tout of this city, were consummated yesterday when the agreement for Miss Tout to study the United States of John Lindbergh, the sixty-five and seventy cents, was signed. The amount Miss Tout is to receive for the tour is said to be $30,000.

PARSONS' TAKE REPLY TO ODELL

Believes Roosevelt Had a Right to Butt Into the New York Campaign.

New York, Nov. 14.—Representative Herbert Parsons, president of the New York county Republican committee, replied today to part of the criticisms of former Governor Odell regarding the management of the late campaign in the state.

"Considering that State Chairman Woodruff had only five weeks in which to conduct the state campaign," said Mr. Parsons, "I believe that he has shown excellent results. If he had had more time he undoubtedly would have accomplished many things that it was impossible to do between the time of his selection and election day."

"As to Governor Odell's criticism of President Roosevelt for his attitude in the campaign," Parsons said, "I believe that the fact that Mr. Roosevelt and his campaign speakers declared that the views of the president and Mr. Roosevelt were practically parallel, an authoritative position of the president's actual position was entirely pertinent."

"The memory of voters is usually short, and we know that many persons had actually begun to believe that what the Heat speakers, particularly those who made addresses in foreign languages, said, was true."

"The president chose the only course that was open to him to state his position, as he had a perfect right to do both as president and as a citizen of the state."

PRESS CLUB ORGANIZED.

Newspaper Men Form Association and Will Incorporate.

The final arrangements for establishing a press club at Ogden were made at a meeting held at the Weber hotel last evening. By special request Judge J. A. Howell was present and assisted in the organization. It was decided to incorporate the club under the laws of Utah. The offer of Professor Squire Coop tendering his studio in the old Masonic building as a temporary home for the organization was accepted. The officers elected to serve until January, 1907, are: President, C. M. Jackson, vice president, Frank Francis, secretary, W. M. Hughes, and treasurer, W. F. Bossner. The club will incorporate for a period of fifty years. An amusement committee, consisting of E. T. Spencer, P. M. Whipple and W. D. Bratz, was also appointed. Other preliminary work was disposed of and an adjournment taken. Reports received during the meeting showed that there is considerable interest being taken in the organization of this club, not alone by the newspaper men, but by the business and professional men of the city. A number of the latter have already applied for membership and will be admitted as associate members.

Republicans Hold Jollification.

The Republican county central committee and candidates elected at the recent election held a love feast in the guise of a smoker in the county building last evening. There were about forty guests present, and it was decided to revive the Republican Lincoln club and to hold a public reception at the new armory on Lincoln's birthday. Chairman F. J. Stenstrom, who presented with a gold watch chain and a suitably engraved as a token of appreciation for the work he did during the campaign. Each candidate present delivered an address.

Big Real Estate Deal.

Another large real estate deal was consummated yesterday morning when Adam Patterson of Ogden came into possession of the property of the Kuritz estate on Washington avenue. The property has a frontage on Washington avenue of seventy feet and is 181 feet deep. The consideration named was $300 per front foot, or $18,993.35.

Rev. Mr. Merritt, a noted Sunday school worker of the International Sunday School association, is scheduled to deliver a lecture at the First Baptist church next Thursday evening. All the churches of the city will unite to hear this service.

No attempt is made to deny the report that the grand jury is taking up matters having important bearing upon coal conditions in Utah. It was hinted frequently during the session of the state commerce commission here in September that a number of actions were to be instituted. Evidence pointing out fraud, conspiracy and illegal competition killing was brought to light, and the witnesses who aided in this are now appearing before the grand jury.

The position that the grand jury is hearing testimony to aid in viewing these matters from what angle it chooses to adopt, and attaches of the court, while refusing absolutely to commit themselves, refuse to deny the reports.

Considering Forgery Case.

That the grand jury is covering a lot of ground quickly was proven by the appearance of D. G. Dimitropoulos and A. Brousalos in the building yesterday. The former has a business in Salt Lake and some time ago paid money to a fellow named C. J. Page, who represented himself to be a revenue collector. Page, who has many aliases, signed the name of E. H. Callister, United States revenue collector, to the check in order to obtain the amount of the tax on the sale of $20. As there are also a number of postal cases to come up, it is believed the grand jury will finish its work for a day or so although no time is being lost.

Prisoner Found Guilty of Robbery Asks Court for Life Sentence—Gets Ten Years Instead.

Park City, Nov. 14.—Judge George A. Armstrong is holding the last session of the district court of Summit county for the year. At this time there were on the calendar six criminal cases and all have been tried.

The case of the state vs. James Williams was heard on Monday and the jury found the defendant guilty of robbery with a dangerous weapon. The charge against the defendant to battery and he was sentenced to four months in the county jail.

In the case of the state vs. J. E. Burk, charged with robbery, the case was tried and occupied the greater part of two days. The jury found the criminal guilty as charged. After waiving time for sentence the fellow created a titter among the spectators by requesting that his honor, as a favor to him, would make the sentence a life one. The court in the matter of John Lindbergh, the defendant, then the defendant begged that he be given at least a term of thirty years. The request is probably unprecedented in Utah, if not in any other state in the Union. The request was hardly considered thought, and ten years was the sentence.

Pat Holland and G. E. Howe, both held for grand larceny, were released upon motion of their counsel without bond, as the state's witnesses were not on hand.

The term of court will likely take the present week and may go into next. The American party have made every possible arrangement for a most successful event in their ratification meeting to be held in the Devery theatre this evening and it is likely that they will have the greatest rally ever held in Park City.

Judge A. G. Winer is slated to speak and it is likely that tomorrow morning will see the signed membership of the "American" party in Park City sufficiently large to make the party a big item in coming campaigns here.

Considerable assessment work is being done by the holders of unpatented mining claims in the mountains and as a result there is scarcely an idle man in camp.

GRAND JURY IS OUT

COAL EVIDENCE

Ex-Mayor Richard P. Morris Among Witnesses Heard During Third Day's Work.

Ex-Mayor Richard P. Morris was among yesterday's witnesses before the grand jury which is now in session in the federal building.

Mr. Morris appeared before the interstate commerce commission when, under the direction of Commissioner Charles A. Prouty, he made an investigation into coal conditions in Utah. As Mr. Morris is manager of the Citizens' Coal company, the questions asked him were asked with a view of throwing light upon several peculiar conditions in the local coal market.

Mr. Morris, in answer to questions asked by the government's representatives, described the old coal pool which existed in Salt Lake about twelve years ago. He testified that this pool comprised the Union Pacific, Pleasant Valley and Rock Springs coal companies. The Swanton, Vandyke and Denver & Rio Grande companies, witness testified, had some interest in the pool, but the Citizens' Coal company received about 38 per cent of the money earned by this combine. Mr. Morris explained that each company received a fair cut of the profits on sales effected by the pool.

Mineral owners forming the combine were indicted in 1896 and this put an end to the pool's existence. Mr. Morris testified that he had no knowledge that any similar pool has existed here since the disorganization of the one mentioned.
